

No Fooling Around

We mean it when we say you can choose your neighbors! Refer your friends and family to our community and once they sign a lease and move in, we will give you $100. It's a win-win!

Smells Delicious!

It's time to grill and the smell is out of this world! Just a reminder to use the grills provided throughout our community. By order of the fire marshal, grills are not permitted on balconies/patios.

Bugged By Bugs?

We are happy to provide routine pest control to ensure you are not bugged by bugs. Pleasant weather is approaching, bringing everyone and everything out. If by chance some unwanted critters bother you, let us know. We will gladly schedule service to get rid of them for you.

New Office Hours

Our office hours have changed. We will no longer be open on Sundays. Of course, our emergency maintenance and courtesy officer are still available for you by calling the office number and following the prompts. You can also leave a message for our staff. If you have any questions, please contact the office.

Spring Is Upon Us!

Warmer weather is finally here! We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for doing your part this winter. Since you kept the heat going and faucets dripping during the cold months, we were able to avoid frozen pipes and all the water damage that accompanies them.

One reminder for this wonderful spring weather: If you enjoy spring breezes by keeping your windows open, please remember that the noise in your apartment should be kept to a minimum. Your neighbors will appreciate your courtesy.

Thank You!

By keeping your entranceway and patio/balcony neat and clean, you are taking pride in your community! We will do our best to make sure every other area reflects that same pride. Thank you!

Charmed

In honor of Administrative Professionals Day this month, we all know what a difference they can make to their employers. No matter what you do for a living, we all can make people feel good about doing business with you or your company.

- 1) You are the "first impression" whether by phone or visits. Play the part well.
- 2) You do everything – Coffee/Equipment/Supply/Event/Agenda Management. Showcase your creativity and cost effective skills.
- 3) Although you may hear everything (and I mean everything) that's going on with everyone, just don't be the one to spread it around.

Good news! The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that this occupation has an overall expected job growth of twelve percent through 2022 with salary ranges from $25k - $45k.

APRIL FOOLS!

Although we love pulling pranks on April Fool's day, these hoaxes, each released on April 1, top the list.

In 1996, Taco Bell announced that it was purchasing the Liberty Bell to help with the National Debt and would rename it the Taco Liberty Bell. The White House got in on the joke by stating the Lincoln Memorial was being refurbished by Ford Motor Company and it would change the name to the Lincoln Mercury Memorial.

Google, in 2013, unveiled a Google nose prank where one could search aromas and sniff them through their computer.

The Swiss Tourism Board released a video in 2009, showing Swiss Mountain Cleaners who daily scaled the Alps, scrubbing the rocks of unsightly bird droppings. Millions of people watched the video and 30,000 took the online test to determine if they could become mountain cleaners.

1993 was the year that the Space Shuttle landed in San Diego, or at least that's what a DJ announced, causing thousands of commuters, with cameras, camcorders and folding chairs, to head toward the small Montgomery Field airport. Even though there wasn't a shuttle in orbit at the time, traffic was brought to a standstill. Police billed the radio station for the cost of forcing officers to direct traffic.

Thousands of people were furious when the BBC reported in 1980 that Big Ben was going digital to keep up with the times. They also said the clock hands would be given away to the first four listeners who contacted them, which one Japanese seaman in the mid-Atlantic did.

In 1998, Burger King published a full page advertisement in USA Today introducing a new "Left-Handed Whopper". Thousands of customers requested the new sandwich and many others requested their own "right-handed" version.

- 1 pkg. (12 oz.) broccoli slaw mix
- 1 cup sweet mini bell peppers (red, orange and yellow)
- 1 cup chopped fresh pineapple (may use pineapple chunks in a jar or can)
- 3/4 cup raisins
- 1 tsp. onion powder
- 1 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/3 cup Italian dressing
- 1 tsp. brown sugar
- 1/3 c sliced toasted almonds (optional)

HEALTHY SPRING Slaw

Combine slaw mix, bell peppers, raisins, pineapple chunks, onion powder and garlic powder in bowl. Mix the brown sugar in with the dressing until well blended. Add to the salad mixture making sure all ingredients are tossed together. Refrigerate one hour. Add the toasted sliced almonds just before serving.
